

TEACHER'S GUIDE for The Paragraph Book

Book 2: Writing the Paragraph That Tells a Story

LESSON 1 QUIZ

Name _____

Date _____

Write T if the statement is true. Write F if the statement is false.

The first one is done for you.

1. T The letters of the FNTF formula stand for First, ... Next, ... Then, ... Finally, ...
2. _____ The FNTF formula can be used to write both a How-to Paragraph and a Story Paragraph.
3. _____ A fictional Story Paragraph is about something that really happened.
4. _____ If you write a true story, titled The Day I Learned to Dive Off the High Board, your writing is autobiographical.
5. _____ E-mails and letters to relatives or friends often contain Story Paragraphs.

6–13. Read this Story Paragraph about an event that really happened. It has four mistakes in format and four mistakes in capitalization and punctuation. Use editing marks to make the corrections. (Refer to your blue editing card from Book 1.) Then, answer the questions below the paragraph.

	The New Madrid earthquake
	First, the ground rose and fell. Next the earth opened up in deep cracks.
	Then, the mighty Mississippi River developed huge waves. Finally,
	The great quake of 1811 in New Madrid, Missouri, was over

14. Is this paragraph fictional? _____ .

15. Is this paragraph autobiographical? _____ .